

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second class mail matter.

GEORGE A. LEWIS.
Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, JANUARY 2, 1886.

The Legislature met on Wednesday, but it is uncertain yet which will have a majority in that body, the Colonels, Majors, Judges, Captains, or the plain Misters.

Mr. P. M. Cohen, the St. Clair street clothing merchant, has packed up his stock and gone to Louisville. He says the business is overdone here, there being more stores than customers.

The business upon the river seems to have about played out, as the steamer Harriet laid up at the wharf here for several days on account of having so little to do. She left for Louisville Tuesday.

NOTICE.—The Truthful Witness will become a weekly on the first Thursday in January, and after that date the price of the paper will be 81 a year. Subscribe now, pay the cash and obtain the paper at 50 cents a year. Call at Dr. Smith's office or send him 50 cents.

We notice in one of our exchanges that a fire took place at Wakefield & West's saw mill about one mile below the city on Tuesday last. If our reporter is correctly informed (and he was on the spot) it was on Christmas morning. Give us more enterprize.—Capital.

As a careful examination of your issue of the next day fails to discover any mention of the aforesaid fire, we would suggest, neighbor, that you try some of your own prescription. But perhaps "our reporter" got lost in Crow on his way home from the fire and failed to show up with his report until too late for publication.

Mr. Emulus Cromwell and Miss Leona Jett, of this county, were riding along the Versailles pike Monday evening, when their buggy was run into and upset by a couple of young men from Shelbyville, in a Jersey wagon. Miss Jett and Mr. Cromwell were dragged some distance in the top but fortunately were not seriously injured. Their horse being gentle did not attempt to kick and was soon stopped, but the buggy was a complete wreck. The shafts were broken off the Jersey wagon, and the horse ran for about a mile before being caught, but neither of the young men were hurt. The driver claims that he did not see the buggy, and although given all the road ran into it.

The General Assembly met on Wednesday at noon, but did not effect an organization until Thursday. The following officers were elected:

In the Senate—Harry Glenn, Esq., of Nicholas, Chief Clerk; John Allison, Esq., of Muhlenberg, Assistant Clerk; B. W. Jenkins, of Louisville, Sergeant-at-Arms; J. Fry Lawrence, of Jefferson, Door-Keeper.

In the House of Representatives—Hon. Chas. Offutt, of Bourbon, Speaker; Hon. Green B. Keller, of Nicholas, Chief Clerk; Willis L. Ringo, of Hickman county, Assistant Clerk; Col. Jake Corbett, of Franklin, Sergeant-at-Arms; Robert Tyler, of Louisville, Door-Keeper.

After hearing the Governor's message read both Houses adjourned until Monday.

In a hastily written item in our supplement of last week we stated that Mr. Linden Lewis, of this county, accidentally shot himself in the leg with a shot gun. This was a mistake. He had bored an auger hole in the end of a hickory block about 18 inches long and 10 inches in diameter, filled the hole with blasting powder, attached a fuse and touched it off, intending to have some Christmas fun. After lighting the fuse he started to run to a safe distance, but thinking the fuse was not burning, he stopped and looked back, when the charge exploded, splitting the block into three pieces, one of them striking him on the right leg just above the knee, breaking the bone into three pieces. Dr. S. F. Smith, of this city, was sent for and reduced the fracture and he is doing as well as possible, but doesn't think he will want to fool with powder any more.

Messrs. Wingate & Marlin have established a roller skating rink at Woodlake.

A watch party was given by Miss Rebecca Averill on Thursday evening, which was largely attended by her numerous friends.

Misses Sue and Lottie French gave a watch party Thursday evening to their friends of the Dramatic set, which was a very pleasant affair.

The Farmers Bank declared a semi-annual dividend yesterday of 3 per cent., the Bank of Kentucky 4 per cent., and the Deposit Bank 3 per cent.

The new year came in beautifully. If the weather of yesterday is to be an indication of the year it certainly will be a delightful one.

Hereafter we will have a carrier in Belle Point, who will deliver the paper at the doors of all our subscribers in that place. Persons desiring to take the paper will please leave their names with Mr. A. B. Hammond, at the Champion Mill, and they will be called upon promptly by our young man.

Thursday afternoon a large wagon, loaded with sacks of grain, belonging to W. T. Gaines & Co., when passing by Nangan & Co.'s livery stable, on main street, sank in the soft mud where there had been some trouble with the water pipes, clear up to the axle and it had to be unlaid in order to extricate it.

The Frankfort Manerchor gave a Sylvester Eve entertainment at Weltzel's Hall on Thursday evening, which was a delightful affair, the time being spent in singing and dancing. At 12 o'clock Mr. Alex. Schneider, President of the Society, in a neat speech presented Prof. Wayland Graham, on behalf of the Manerchor, with a velvet base rocker, as a token of their appreciation of his services.

A gentleman's social club, called the Waverly Club, has been organized in this city. The room in the old Bank corner, over Szymanski's barber shop, has been rented and handsomely fitted up for a reading room, and a fine billiard table has been purchased and placed in it. Mr. R. W. McKery has been elected President; Gen. D. W. Lindsey, Vice President; and Mr. Jas. A. Murray, Secretary and Treasurer. The club is composed of about forty members so far, and will still further increase its numbers.

The following officers were elected Monday night, by Capital Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., for the ensuing six months: Geo. W. Rock, N. G.

Lee A. Owen, V. G.
J. R. Williams, Secretary.
N. F. Richardson, Treasurer.
Wm. Howe Williams, Host.

Widows and Orphans Committee—N. F. Richardson, Chairman; D. H. Pifer, Jas. M. Case.

Financial Committee—G. Schaefer, Chairman; A. Chilson, Geo. W. Rock.

FIRE IN PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING

REOPENING OF SCHOOLS MONDAY, DEC. 14

The Trustees of the Frankfort Public Schools, Messrs. W. S. Delaney, D. L. Haly, and E. Whitesides, assisted by Prof. S. P. Browder, the Superintendent of the schools, deserve the highest praise in their efforts to have the school reopened, and will arrange to have them reopen on Monday next, December 14, and up to this time have decided to locate the 1st and 2d grades in the Sewer building, on Main street, opposite MEAGHER BROS. store, and to be conducted under the management of able teachers. While the loss of this institution has made many sad hearts in our community, we desire to remind the patrons of the Public School, and the Schools of the city and county, and the public generally, that in their grief over this loss, they should not overlook the fact that we have made arrangements to assist to gladden their hearts, and to this end have carefully selected a stock of CHRISTMAS PRESENTS, that will be useful at all times, and the PRICES are such that they will be within the reach of everybody. Among our stock of CHRISTMAS GOODS will be found Books, Writing Desks, Gold Pens, Inkstands, Paper Weights, Bibles, Photograph and Autograph Albums, Scrap Books, Diaries, Picture Frames, Silk Umbrellas, Music Rolls, Games, Handkerchiefs and Glove Boxes, &c. The address of Mr. J. Howard Gray, of the U. S. Coast Survey, is Punta Roca, Monroe county, Florida, where he has been stationed for some time, and writes is having a splendid time. Any of his numerous friends in this city desiring to communicate with him will address him at that point.

LOST.—Somewhere in the city of Frankfort, a gold Knight Templar watch chain, inscribed with mother of pearl, with the name "J. R. Stafford," engraved on one side, and Preston Lodge No. 281 on the other. The finder will please leave at this office and be rewarded.

At the meeting of the stockholders of the Frankfort Water Company on Saturday the old board of directors, Messrs. Sam'l A. Miller, G. J. Long, and Rodes Barrett, of Louisville, D. W. Lindsey and J. Stoddard Johnston, of this city were re-elected. The board of directors then met and elected Sam'l A. Miller, President; J. Stoddard Johnston, Vice President; Rodes Barrett, Treasurer; William Reinecke, Secretary.

Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson, wife of Mr. Jas. A. Richardson, of this county, died at her home near this city, at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, after a painful illness of several weeks. She was a devoted wife, an affectionate mother, and a devout Christian, having been a consistent member of Cedar Chapel Methodist Church for a number of years. The neighborhood in which she lived has sustained a great loss in her death, for no one had a better, more kind-hearted or charitable neighbor than she was, and a large circle of friends mourn her loss equally with her immediate family. The funeral took place Thursday evening from the family residence, and was largely attended.

Bartley Camp, of "melodrama," "The White Slave," is full of strong situations, great human interest and scope for lecturing as well as character acting. Put in the hands of a good company and presented in superb style of stage settings, is it a wonder that it should prove a drawing card that will not dull for a long time to come? It opened its week in this city last night at the People's Theatre and there was an immense house full of it. The scenery is costly, elaborate and telling, and in the tableau of the floating wreck, a new device in stage lighting is introduced, which, if it could be patented, should insure its inventor a fortune. It is the most realistic lighting ever seen here and is effected by casting jagged lines of electricity along the ceiling at the back of the stage. The company is excellent and does its work well.—Republican, St. Louis, Dec. 7.

At the Opera House Monday, January 4th, 1886.

A thorough test was given the new fire hydrants Tuesday afternoon. Hose was attached to six of them and the water turned on all at once, when the streams thrown demonstrated clearly that if a house is burned in this city hereafter it will not be for want of water or because there is lack of pressure on the hose. Water was thrown over the spire of the Christian Church, the highest point in the city, and away over the tops of ordinary buildings.

Tongalene has given me better satisfaction in the treatment of neuralgic affections than anything else I have ever used.

ROUNABOUT-Supplement

FRANKFORT, KY., JANUARY 2, 1896.

The Roller Skating Rink will be opened this morning at 9 o'clock, in Haly's Hall on Main street. This will be good news to the young people.

Forks of Elkhorn.

Miss Lena Kirtley, of Eddyville, spent a few days here with Miss Jennie Featherston.

Misses Annie South and Fannie Bullock, of Frankfort, have been out visiting friends.

Mrs. Fannie Allen, of Stedmanville, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. South Trimble, here.

Mrs. Alice Seantland, of Farmdale, was over and spent a couple of days with her sister, Mrs. Salile Burdin.

The Christmas tree at Providence Church on Christmas Eve night was splendid and well attended and everybody seemed pleased.

Welcome, Woodlake, glad to see you; sorry your express line, the O. F. C., was ditched; tell So Simly not to load so heavy, or he will lose his whiz wheel; good-bye; my regards to the Chinese.

The Forks Mission Sunday-school had a Jacob's ladder instead of a Christmas tree on Christmas night, and it proved a grand success. The spectators as well as the children were delighted. The presents were numerous and well selected.

We are glad to know that the mugwumps are coming to the front at Woodlake. They are the fellows to fill any position. Vote the prohibition ticket, boys, if they do call you a mugwump. We are bound to win. Three cheers for the mugwumps!

Last Wednesday night week, about 11 o'clock, Mr. Ben. Sullivan met a man that lives near Frankfort, with two turkeys, and as the moon was shining brightly, he recognized the turkeys, at least he thought he did, so he stopped him and told him that he had stolen them. He marched him up to Mr. Loyd Featherston's, where after a trial before a half a dozen men, he acknowledged that he had stolen them from Mr. Featherston and by his request was set loose. We have now made Ben our private detective.

The same night we had the top story of a bee hive stolen, and the supposition is that the turkey thief stole the hive. We withhold his name this time, but if we ever catch him out here again we will do worse than publish his name.

Bridgeport.

Delightful weather.
Colds are prevalent.
Turning over a new leaf is now in order.
Several cases of pneumonia in this section.

Little Brownie Parent has recovered from her recent illness.

Mrs. Jas. Hopel, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Mrs. Ruth Hall.

Mr. J. D. Parent, who has been quite sick this week, is very much better.

A mild winter so far; and all without the intervention of the weather prophets.

The usual number of parties and dinings have occurred during the holidays.

Mrs. Emily Parent and Mrs. Martha Jackson are each better this week.

The "boss" men occupied a prominent position at the social at the toll-gate.

Miss Annie Collins, of Lawrenceburg, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Miller.

Mr. R. H. Hawkins and family, of Lexington, are visiting relatives in this section.

Mr. Thos. Freeman, who has been quite feeble for some time, is at the point of death.

Mr. Fritz Reddish, of Oldham county, is visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity.

In order that the race may be interesting we advise a few announcements as candidates for Jailer.

Dr. Chinn is kept quite busy, plainly indicating that considerable sickness is abroad in this section.

Ben Sargent, of Jessamine county, and Miss Fannie Martin, of Woodford county, are in the neighborhood.

Kendrick Wade, Colie Crockett, Will Hawkins, and Raleigh Armstrong are the boss rifle shots in these diggings.

Willie Wade, of the Bridgeport school, and Willie Parent, of the Pen Ridge school, are the honor pupils in spelling.

Regular services at Evergreen Chapel today at 2 p. m., and to-morrow at 11 a. m., Pastor Hangerford officiating. All are invited to attend.

Prof. J. B. Lea has returned from a visit to—well, it matters not where—but all the same he is ready to commence work Monday with renewed energy.

Those contemplating tobacco culture during the coming season might make it profitable by having their grubbing and wood-chippings now while candidates are plentiful.

Turkey shooting, raffling, and other methods of pastime incident to Christmas have occupied the time of the fun-loving for several days past. "Birds of a feather will flock together." The above adage is more plainly perceptible during Christmas perhaps than at any other time.

Carrier's Address.

BY THOS. B. FORD

Eighteen hundred and eighty-six
Finds most of us in a good fix.
And while some of us may not thrive
We'll thank the Lord we're all alive.
And if we cannot ape the friskies
That we are living creatures still,
And not up yonder on the hill.
And if we haint a seal skin coat
We're still allowed to treat and vote.
(Oat happy thought the seal inflates.
Now we've so many candidates.
It is a glorious consolation,
And fills with pride this grand old nation,
And makes us all rejoice when
We see so many able men.
So many statesmen good and wise
Quite willing for the sacrifice
To serve the State and save the county
And live upon the people's bounty.
A glorious era for the docter.
To make himself known as a voter;
For in all this election jara
We find few men not worth a dram.
From County Judge to County Clerk
We're apt to have some stirring work.
From County Jailor to Assessor
We're apt to have a pretty mess, sir.
We'll have before the thing is fixed
A lot of phisic strongly mixed.
But from our duty never shrink
And at the fountain freely drink.
We'll take it crooked, take it straight
And always get home very late.
And when the good wife cries and bellows
We'll lay it all to the Odd Fellows,
And tie down on the kitchen rug
Quite thankful we're not in the jug.
Enough, enough, I'll pass to themes
More fit for my poetic dreams.
I'll speak of water, grand supply;
Thank God, we are no longer dry.
Each man in Frankfort, should he be frisky,
When he drinks something else but whisky.
(Oh! water, water, see it gushing,
And down the hillside fairly rushing,
No matter if the pipes do burst,
We've something now to quench our thirst,
And so our scores of saloons ought to
Mix all their liquors with pure water.
"This good advice and what they need
To give new temper to the breed,
Our Legislators may not like it
But if they don't why let 'em spike it.
'Twill be a change at any rate
For the old staggering trembling state.
And while we may have many grumblers
We'll not have quite as many tumblers.
We'll have a better, higher law,
And less disturbance down in Crawl.
That spot no more in red we'll paint
In wars of sinners and of saint.
We'll turn the darkness into light
And drive away the ghouls of night.
And need no more a long petition
To send these wretches to perdition.
Affairs down there will be quite nice
And property increase in price.
We'll bury sin deep in the grave
And launch the sinners on the wave,
But where to sail? nye there's the rub,
To Heaven or Baelzebub?
Adrift upon the sea of sin,
Without a port to enter in,
Adrift upon an ocean wide,
Compelled the waves of hate to ride;
To sail and sail forevermore,
And never find a friendly shore.
No welcome harbor for each bark,
Adrift upon this ocean dark,
On this broad earth is ever found

Until these storm tossed ships go down.
Until at last the billows roll
Above each sin-polluted soul.
Good friend, I'll tell you what we need.
More charity in word and deed.
We need good churches and good schools
To lift these wretches from the pocks;
We need a higher, better law
To save the sinners down in Crawl.
Build up your Church, build up your school
And imitate the Golden Rule.
Then all this gloom will pass away,
And we will bless that glorious day.
But spite of clamors and of cries
Our city still is on the rise.

In mercy's name, how can we fail.
When soon we'll have a fine new jail.
And when our Public Building's done,
We will be happy, every one.
The Legislature, now in session,
Can help us all beyond expression.
By making, ere it is too late,
A decent State House for the State.
For this dilapidated barn
Ain't worth a patching or a darn.
Oh Legislators, all our laws
Are full of wide and gaping flaws.
We need good houses for our schools
So other States won't call us fools;
We need good roads on which to travel,
The bad ones lead us to the devil.
We need more vim and mination,
More rail-roads and more navigation.
We need what every farmer likes,
Ten thousand more of new turnpikes.
We need more progress all around us.
The chains of sloth too long have bound us.
From all this apathy awaking,
We long to see the new day breaking.

All of the past old year that's omt,
I've carried you the ROUNABOUT,
In cold, in heat, in rain, in snow,
I've brought it weekly to your door,
And as I wish you all much joy,
Think kindly of the CARRIER BOY.

The Cedar Run Distillery began running Thursday.

Sandriffle.

John W. Rogers is the leading star here for jailor. John is a gentleman of splendid development. He is kind, courteous, and intelligent. He is said to have a wide circle of admiring friends.

Our bad boy smeared the room with coal oil, then applied the torch around his mother's bed. The old lady hobbled out on crutches in her night dress to the woods. The cat, with one eye, escaped without a singe. The house was consumed by accident.

Mr. Leonidas Harrod was more mild in his sarcasms on the school teacher and Prof. Hunter than was naturally expected of him. Your Sandriffle reporter would lose his right arm before he would write a syllable derogatory to the character of this people or the place. The dry jokes that may have appeared in the ROUNABOUT were intended as jokes and read as jokes but viciously construed by one illiterate, had man to mean evil.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Joe Bohannon said the first grace in his "plus" lifetime over a thirty pound turkey Christmas day. It was a grace that would inspire the pencil of the artist to see the old "plus" patriarch as he loaded the plates of his excellent wife, kids and the writer with turkey and other choice viands which the table fairly groined under. Now, Joe, I hope you may live to enjoy many such dinners with no "vacant chair" at table, and when you have escaped mortality for immortality and passed through the "Pearly Gates," that the first "person" to meet and greet you will be the same bronzed turkey gobbler who you murdered in cold blood in this life when his playful eye was upturned to heaven, as much as to say: "Forgive him, Father, he don't know what he is doing," but having been glorified, he will conduct you to the great white throne to receive the crown which you are striving so hard in this life to win.
